

TRUSTEES' MEETING

ORDINANCE REGULATING SANITARIUMS TAKEN UP—VERDUGO WASH REPORT

The regular meeting of the board of trustees of the City of Glendale was held in the city hall, Thursday evening, Sept. 28, 1916. Present: J. S. Thompson, president of the board, and Trustees Chas. Grist, R. M. Jackson, F. L. Muhleman, G. B. Woodberry. Also present T. W. Watson, city manager; J. C. Sherer, city clerk; Mattison B. Jones, acting city attorney; H. B. Lynch, manager public service department; G. H. Herald, city marshal; A. H. Lankford, fire marshal.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

A communication was read from Mr. H. L. Miller, proprietor of Thornycroft hospital, requesting a hearing before the board in regard to the proposed ordinance for the regulation of hospitals and sanitariums. Mr. Miller was present as was also Dr. Mabry of Tropico, both of whom at this time addressed the board on this subject. On motion, the communication was ordered to be received and placed on file and the matter was informally laid upon the table to be taken up later in the evening.

A communication was read from the Board of Supervisors of San Bernardino County inviting the attendance of the board of trustees at a meeting to be held September 29th at 9:30 a. m. at the rooms of the Board of Supervisors at Los Angeles to discuss the question of adoption of a uniform ordinance respecting the weight of loads to be carried by trucks over paved roads. On motion the communication was ordered to be filed.

The tax collector presented a report showing taxes collected from September 15th to date $220.87. The report was ordered to be filed.

A communication was read from City Marshal Herald recommending that the permit of Mr. N. H. Palmer to carry a revolver, be revoked. The recommendation was made on account of the complaint of citizens that Mr. Palmer had made an unnecessary display of his revolver in the presence of women and children. On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the recommendation was concurred in and the permit revoked.

A party who had paid $5.00 for license fee to conduct an auction within the city limits, appeared before the board requesting that the sum be refunded. On motion of Trustee Woodberry, the request was denied.

Mr. Cowan on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, presented an invitation from that body requesting the trustees to be present at a meeting to be held in the council chamber, Tuesday evening next, for the purpose of hearing a report to be submitted by the Chamber of Commerce Charter committee. On motion, the invitation was accepted.

The city manager presented a report in reference to clearing out the channel of Verdugo Wash to the effect that he had served a notice on the party maintaining a wire fence and barricade of brush across the channel to remove the same. He had also sent letters to the largest owners of property abutting on the wash, requesting their co-operation in the enforcement of Ordinance Number 281, which prohibits the placing of brush or any other obstruction within the channel of any water course within the city. He requested further time in order to clear out the channel, promising to submit estimated cost of said work at the next regular meeting. The report was ordered to be received and filed.

On motion, Resolution Number 926, "A Resolution of the board of trustees of the City of Glendale prohibiting the removal of trees from streets, alleys or public places without first obtaining a permit from the board of trustees," was taken up for reading.

On motion of Trustee Woodberry the same upon being read was adopted by unanimous vote.

The clerk read a communication from the Torrens Land Registration company making a tentative proposition to the city to furnish information as to the filing of actions in the office of the county clerk, for the purpose of putting under the Torrens Land Act any property within the City of Glendale, the sum of $5.00 a month to be paid for said service. On motion of Trustee Woodberry, it was declared to be the sense of the board of trustees that they look with favor upon the proposition, and it was referred to the city attorney to investigate and make a recommendation. ## CONDITIONS IN EAST

MISS BESSIE FIELD HEARD HUM OF BUSY LIFE EVERYWHERE ON TRIP

Miss Bessie Field, 239 S. Kenwood, who is back at her former work of teaching in the High school, made an extensive trip through the East during her vacation. Starting from Glendale about the end of June she went to Chicago by way of the Grand Canyon of Colorado. "I was glad I arranged to stop off at the Grand Canyon," said Miss Field. "There is nothing anywhere like it. It is, as Prof. John C. Van Dyke says, 'not the eighth but the first wonder of the world.' Wandering on the rim I overlooked a thousand square miles of pyramids and minarets carved from the painted depths. Far, far down, like a silver thread at the bottom of the dark recesses of the canyon, could be seen the Colorado, a pigmy from the rim of the canyon, but a roaring giant when one is by its side. There the waters of 3000 square miles are gathered together. They are a mile below. By moonlight the wonder and mystery of the canyon are wonderfully increased. It grows on one's soul and I could hardly tear myself away from contemplation of the marvels of the spot.

"On to Chicago! What a change and contrast! From the profound forces of the Grand Canyon to the seething maelstrom of the 'Loop' district. There is only one Chicago, as there is only one Grand Canyon. Both are unique. The boiling fury and the irresistible sweep of the Colorado river are matched in the never-ending roar and noise of the mighty city, with its rushing throngs visible from the tower heights of its skyscrapers much as the Colorado river is from the rim of the canyon.

"Chicago I saw hastily for a few days; drove through its wonderful park system—north, south and west. The parks are beautiful. The city has extended out to Evanston, the great educational center of that section. Its octopus tentacles are gathering in more and more of the surrounding territory of Cook County. Chicago is a colossus as much as the Grand Canyon. Business occupies its attention. It is still as dirty as of yore. Its furnaces of soft coal pour their volumes of carbon into the air and a white linen suit remains a white linen suit until noon; afterward it is what you please, but it is no longer white.

"In New York I found the same indifference to conditions outside that great center that have always prevailed there. The New Yorker is provincial in his assumed exclusiveness. The east is prosperous under the war regime. Every factory is busy. Men are scarce. There is work for all. In New York city I visited Columbia university and learned that this year the summer school has 6000 students. This is the largest number ever enrolled. When I was in the city everybody was under quarantine, if suspected, for infantile paralysis. Everybody suspected everybody else. There was an exodus of families and their children. I also shook the dust from off my feet and went to Philadelphia, as quaint as of yore. I made a pilgrimage to Washington, D. C., and saw the national legislature in all its glory.

"At Baltimore, Md., I breathed another and a vastly different atmosphere; I viewed the beauties of Wilmington, Delaware, and answered questions at St. Joe, Missouri. Thence I hied me westward once more and drew inspiration from the rarified atmosphere of Colorado Springs; whence I came back to the Pacific slope and the sunny fields of Glendale, glad to be again among mine own people."

BABY BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Claude E. Shattuck, 821 S. Central avenue, entertained a number of guests at her home Wednesday afternoon, in honor of her baby Gwendolen, who attained her first year on that date. To keep the baby company other baby guests were invited in the persons of Patricia Pearce and Jane Leighton. The grownup guests were: Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, Miss Myrtle Pulliam, Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, Mrs. Leighton, Mrs. E. W. Kinney, Miss Eula Richardson, Mrs. Theodore F. Pierce, Mrs. Glenwood Jones.

The rooms and the table were beautifully decorated with Cecil Bruner roses. A very pleasant time was spent and the babies did themselves credit by the very acme of good behavior; not a cry was heard from them during the whole afternoon. Gwendolen received a number of very beautiful presents from her friends and each guest was presented with a kewpie.

GERMAN CHANCELLOR TALKS OF PEACE

VON BETHMANN-HOLLWEG SAYS ALLIES ARE DETERMINED ON GERMANY'S DESTRUCTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, at the opening of the reichstag yesterday, declared that Italy was partly forced into the war by Britain, on which country she is dependent for iron and coal. He also stated that the Allies were to blame for the continuance of the war as they refused to discuss any terms of peace. Germany, he said, had already offered reasonable terms but that the Allies were bent on the utter destruction of Germany. He urged the use of all manner of weapons against Germany's unscrupulous and relentless foe—England.

CARRANZISTAS DEFEATED IN FIERCE FIGHT

VILLISTAS INFLICT SEVERE PUNISHMENT ON FORCES OF GEN. RAMOS IN THE MOUNTAINS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, Sept. 29.—News of the fighting at Cusiuhirachic in the mountains was received here today. It appears that the Carranza forces suffered very severe losses, while the Villistas were also badly cut up. The statement that Uribe has been captured is not confirmed as yet. If he has been taken prisoner he will receive a very short trial and then be shot. He used to amuse himself by cutting off the ears of de facto soldiers. Gen. Ramos, the Carranzista general in charge of the forces that encountered Uribe, is wounded but not very seriously. Villa is reported to be recruiting in the vicinity of Ojinaga. He is credited with having 2000 men with him.

BRITISH AND FRENCH ADVANCE ON SOMME

HAIG'S MEN NEAR LE SARS AND FRENCH MAKE CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS IN DIRECTION OF FREGICOURT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Sept. 29.—There was no lull today in the continuous attack that the British are making toward Bapaume. Haig's men are making the usual flanking movements that will enable them to pounce on Bapaume as they did on Combles. The British are close to Le Sars and are now preparing to storm that place. At the same time the French are making progress between Morval and Fregicourt. They are slowly encircling Peronne before making any attempt to carry it by assault.

King Constantine's plans contemplate an ultimatum demanding instant evacuation of Greek Macedonia. Plans for the mobilization of the Greek forces are also being formulated. The people of Athens are wildly excited in view of the proposal to go to war with Bulgaria. The Venizelists are saying nothing at present but their plans are also maturing. While Greece is talking the Bulgarians are hastily digging trenches and fortifying every inch of ground in Macedonia, where they anticipate fighting.

Meetings have been held behind closed doors for several days past. Union leaders have been asked to these conferences and it is believed that a new plan has been devised by which the unions will be enlisted in the cause of the strikers.

WARNS GERMANY TO EXPECT RETIREMENT

DOES NOT MEAN THAT LINE WILL BE BROKEN
GERMAN IMPERIAL CHANCELLOR SAYS WITHDRAWAL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, in the course of his lengthy speech in the reichstag, warned the Germans to expect withdrawals on the western front. He added, however, that notwithstanding retirements, which might have to be carried out, the German line would never be broken.

STUDY OF THE LAW

CITY TRUSTEE MUHLEMAN SAYS KNOWLEDGE OF LAW IS PART OF EDUCATION

There is an old saying that "he who acts as his own lawyer has a fool for a client" or words of similar import.

An examination of the enrollment in the various universities, schools and colleges of the country in which a course in the study of law may be had, discloses a great number of students of both sexes who are taking up the study of law. This has been increased from year to year until at the present time the study of law is considered by many a necessary part of one's education.

A very small percentage of those who take a law course continue to follow the law as a profession but use it as an auxiliary or aid to them in a business career, and only recently in the City of Los Angeles, a course of ten lectures was given by an attorney for one of the title companies, at which a great number of men engaged in banking and other business pursuits attended. The demand for a knowledge of law, and particularly law governing the business transactions of brokers, real estate investors, bankers and bank clerks, is increasing constantly. We find that many of our educational institutions have added a course of law within the last few years believing that it is a great advantage to the student or to the person who is seeking an education. There is something to be said on both sides of the question, and what is here said is not meant to either extend or limit the study of law, it being simply observations of the conditions as they now exist.

There is an old saying that the law is a "very jealous mistress" and will brook no interference of any other business or pursuit in connection with it. It is true that if one hopes or expects to succeed in the practice of the profession of law, he must devote his time and attention to it. On the other hand, it does not mean that every man who studies the law, need of necessity practice law in order to get some benefit from it. The danger of having just a sufficient knowledge of law to think or believe that one knows all that is necessary without following it up as a profession, is that such person is liable to make a mistake in what really is the law, and therefore be involved in greater difficulties than if he had gone in the first instance to an attorney who makes the practice of the profession his business. There should be an added advantage in any business man studying law as it is generally taught in the schools and colleges of the country. It gives him a better understanding of business transactions, and this is particularly true of commercial law.

The law is divided into many branches and at the present time, in order to succeed to any great extent, must be specialized in. For instance, the one who would hope to become an authority on real estate law, should devote a great deal of time to that one branch. The same is true of corporation law, insurance law, etc.

It seems that litigation in the United States is increasing very rapidly. This is shown by the number of reports of the Supreme Court decisions of the various states. At litigation multiplies, new attorneys enter the arena, believing it to be a profitable field. Many very fine merchants, farmers, railway presidents, mechanics, bankers and other kinds of business men are spoiled by attempting to make lawyers of them.

One of the most profitable branches of law is the practice in the probate court. Under the ethics of the profession, solicitation of business is not permitted. In order to secure this profitable branch of the law, corporations doing business as banks, trust companies, insurance and trust companies in various parts of the country, by advertising that their legal department will prepare wills, that such trust companies are competent to act as executors, trustees and administrators without bond, are securing a great deal of the business in the probate courts, thus accomplishing by direct advertising what the practicing attorney is not permitted to do by reason of the ethics of the profession. This condition has become so pronounced that at a recent meeting of one of the bar associations the matter was discussed and recommendations made to put a stop to it by legislation. I only mention this as one of the tendencies of the times.

Under the old order of things the lawyer and counsellor was considered a quasi public officer; his education was supposed to be liberal—in many cases it was. His opinions were considered. (Continued on Page 3)

TRAINING THE YOUNG SOLDIER

From all hands come reports of the benefits received from the military life in the American militia camps on the border. The little war scare which is keeping the regular army of 25,000 men and the State troops of about 90,000 men in the field is doing a great deal for the American citizen. It is giving this generation an idea of what will be required in war if their country should ever have to go to the field to defend itself.

Those who have gone from the different states to the border are taking satisfactorily to the duties of the camp. They are finding that camp life does not mean idleness. They are working harder than they have ever done. The man of the cavalry and of the artillery have a day that begins at 5:30. He dresses himself, washes, cleans his horse and sweeps up the street in front of his tent.

At 6 he goes to breakfast when he hears the sound of the bugle—the call for breakfast. From that time on there is constant work—tidying up, sweeping streets, currying horses. At 8 the camp is really busy. Under a hot and copper sky, whence the blazing rays of the sun are sending the temperature soaring, the bugle sounds the "assembly" and the men are speedily out on the sundried plains, learning squad drill, the school of the soldier if they need it, platoon and company drill, moving in open order as skirmishers, digging trenches, stringing barbed wire, and practicing big gun drill.

At times the call is given for a march out into the hot desert, where the rays of the sun are reflected back in sheets of flame from the burning sands. Under these conditions the men are taught to observe the mirage and to study how to allow for its distortion when firing at targets as they may ultimately be called on to fire at Mexican brigands.

When the cavalry goes out on such marches there is work when they return to get the horses again clean and in shape. By the time this is done it is possibly 12 noon and everyone is as hungry as a hawk. From 1 to 3 is a rest period. It is devoted to school for officers and non-commissioned officers. Here they learn to take care of guns and equipment.

There is no doubt that the strict discipline of the camp is a fine thing for the men. It is the one thing that many of them have never learned. To stand in one position until told to move. To obey without question. To do whatsoever their hands find to do with their might. To bear all manner of inconveniences without murmuring. To feel growing up in their hearts that love of country which is instinctive with all Americans, but which becomes so much more of a reality when the soldier sees the flag mocked or assailed by an outsider.

Day after day on the arid frontier line between Mexico and the United States the men of the State regiments are learning what defending their country means. It is well for them that they have had a chance to learn something of soldiering in the field before a war has broken out. It would also be well for every able-bodied man in the United States if he could have opportunity to go to the border and put in a few months in the army camp there. Those who have gone through and are going through the experience are already men of wider mind than they were when they set out and they have gained what the Romans considered the acme of human perfection "a sound mind in a sound body."

JAPAN'S WARNING TO THE UNITED STATES

It has frequently been pointed out in these columns that the dispute between Japan and the United States concerning the status of Japanese citizens in this country has never been settled and that it still remains an open sore that at any moment might become malignant. As recently as a few months ago when the situation between the United States and Mexico was critical, Japan took opportunity to remind the United States that this question was still open and that Japan intended to insist on her rights in the case.

Just at present a former minister of finance in Japan, Baron Sakatani, took occasion when interviewed to remind Americans that the questions of the right of Japanese to emigrate to the United States and to hold land in this country, is held by Japan to be essential and that Japan will insist on the stipulations of the treaty with this country being fulfilled to the very letter.

When Baron Chinda was ambassador of Japan to the United States, William Jennings Bryan was secretary of state. At that time California enacted alien land legislation in which it was proposed to discriminate against the Japanese. Bryan was at length so convinced of the dangerous situation in which this country was placed by the determination of California to carry out this legislation that he made a special trip from Washington, D. C., to Sacramento while the legislature was in session to endeavor to persuade the leaders of the movement to consent to eliminate the clauses to which the Japanese government objected.

Bryan failed in his mission and Gov. Johnson signed the measure. The Japanese government, not recognizing individual States, of course holds the United States to account for this legislation. Every time when there seems to be somewhat of a difficulty in the negotiations with Mexico the Japanese pull the string and up jumps the spirit of discord. It is worth while observing that this semi-official statement comes very conveniently with the moment when the negotiations between the United States and Mexican delegates at the arbitration convention are in a deadlock over the question of the withdrawal of the American troops. It also comes at a time when the difficulties of the Carranza government are increasing and the figure of Villa is again casting its shadow over the land.

These constant and timely hints ought not to be thrown away on the leaders of this country. The question of the status of Japanese in the United States is a serious question and becomes the more serious when it is considered in the light of Japanese preparedness and American unpreparedness. Japan has an army of 2,000,000 men at her call in the field. These men are all carefully trained; the reserve consists of the 750,000 who fought in the Russo-Japanese

On motion, this ordinance was declared read for the first time and was laid over for second reading. Dr. Mabry of Tropic addressed the board at considerable length, his principle objection to the proposed ordinance being that it classifies tuberculosis with scarlet fever and diphtheria as a contagious disease.

On motion of Trustee Woodberry, the city manager was delegated to represent the city at the next meeting of the League of California Municipalities to be held in Visalia, October next, his expenses to be borne by the city in a sum not to exceed thirty dollars.

Mr. McGillis appeared before the board asking permission on behalf of the California Dry Federation to use the streets for a period on the evening of November 6th next. On motion, the request was granted.

On motion, Ordinance Number 299, "An Ordinance of the City of Glendale, extending the time for the filing of an action in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles, for the condemnation of property for the opening, widening and laying out of Eighth street in said city," was ordered to be taken up for third and final reading, and upon being read, was on motion of Trustee Woodberry adopted by unanimous vote.

The matter of parking automobiles on Brand boulevard was discussed and on motion of Trustee Muhleman, referred to the city manager.

BIG INCREASE IN BUSINESS

While business in all lines has been showing an increase the past couple months, one of the largest gains in the local field is the Broadway Bakery, of which Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walsma are the proprietors. Six months ago this bakery was averaging but little more than 300 loaves of bread a day, but during September the daily output has been 900 loaves a day. In addition to this big bread increase, business in other bakery products has been doubled, and Mr. Walsma has placed exceedingly large advance orders in flour to give his patrons the best possible values in bread in spite of the high cost of flour and other materials.

war of 1905. The young army is bold, trained to the last touch. The reserves are a splendid backbone of men of dauntless mettle. They are the men who fought at Port Arthur and stormed the earth fortifications at Mukden.

The Japanese fleet is a homogenous body of first-class naval units. No one is permitted to know what the Japanese have been adding to that fleet in the past few years; but it is certain that just at present it is a most formidable naval body. While the United States has practically no air service the Japanese have an up-to-date and fully adequate aviation body. These are facts worth pondering when the question of Japanese status in the United States is in question. They are worth a hundred commonplace arguments on the side of preparedness.

Personals

The High School P.-T. A. will meet at the High School Monday, Oct. 2, at 3 p. m. Mrs. E. H. Noe of Los Angeles will address the meeting.

Fred Wilkinson, 221 Central avenue, who had his left arm badly torn when it was caught in a printing press, is now able to be out and is hoping ere long to recover the entire use of his arm.

T. J. Keleher, 228 N. Louise street, returned home Thursday from a trip to San Diego. Mrs. T. J. Keleher is the dinner guest today of Mrs. Douglas Holman, of 39th street, Los Angeles.

The second series of the Egan School dancing parties will be held this Friday evening at Butler's hall. A special program has been planned and new classes will be formed.

Mr. and Mrs. Riecke, who recently arrived in this city from Monrovia, have taken the house at 116 Ellis avenue. They will be quite an addition to the Eagle Dale community.

Mrs. George Hill, Rock Glen avenue, who has been in very poor health for some time past, is manifesting little appearance of improvement and her friends are much concerned over her condition.

The Rev. A. B. Morrison is quite seriously ill at his home, 1327 Colorado boulevard. Dr. Morrison, who has had a long and useful life in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church, is more than eighty years of age. There is very little hope of his recovery.

The Rev. George Eley and Mrs. Eley, 1210 Lomita avenue, were greatly pleased with a visit from their son Claude, of the Los Angeles fire service, who returned from a hunting trip in the mountains around Mt. Whitney. He was accompanied on his trip by two friends. They motored to Cowan's ranch and thence walked 18 miles up the hills, through a country infested by rattlesnakes. The party was rewarded for its perseverance by shooting five deer. These were carefully smoked and part of the venison was presented to Mrs. Eley.

The Rev. W. R. Johnston of Ellis avenue returned home Wednesday from his missionary field among the Indians of Indian Springs, Arizona. He intends to leave for the East Saturday. This has been a poor year for missions from a financial point of view and the activities of the missionary society of the Presbyterian church, with which Mr. Johnston is connected, have been curtailed. Mr. Johnston will present the facts concerning the Indian missions and their need of support throughout the country, at the direction of the Mission board. He expects to make an average of fifteen speeches a week.

EAGLEDALE NOTES

Mrs. C. W. Young of Rock Glen avenue, met with a pleasant surprise at the recent meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Congregational church of Eagle Rock. The meeting was held in the church parlors and was for the purpose of making plans for the coming year. Mrs. Young, whose activities in connection with the Ladies' Aid and many other societies and undertakings are well known found the parlors gaily decorated and a full attendance of the members.

After business had been transacted the ladies explained to Mrs. Young that they had planned a program for the afternoon and to her surprise she found herself the honored guest of the day. Speeches and toasts were made and given. The toasts were original and were in both prose and verse, many of them being quite clever. After a delicious luncheon Mrs. Young was presented with a tray of unique workmanship. During their vacation visits to the seaside the ladies had collected beautiful specimens of seaweed. These had been dried and pressed and mounted between two plates of glass. This artistic double plate formed the bottom of the tray; the sides were of rosewood and the handles of ebony. Mrs. Young expressed her sense of the high tribute paid to her in appropriate phrase.

PROF. HALL ON GREECE

Those of the large audience who attended the lecture given last evening at the High school auditorium by Prof. Jerome Hall Raymond of the University of California Extension Course know more about Greece than they did before. The lecture was illustrated with very fine stereopticon views and was intensely interesting and instructive. This proved a rare opportunity for those who will not be able to visit Greece. Prof. Raymond took his audience from ancient Greece to the Greece of today, touching upon the political situation, philosophy, and so forth in a way which awakened the intense interest of his hearers. The views were especially good and excellently manipulated. Prof. Raymond is certain to be greeted by a full house on the evening of October 6 when he gives his illustrated lecture on Ireland. This course is given under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Federation of Glendale.

JUNIOR ENGLISH CLASSES VISIT GLENDAL E V E N I N G N E W S

That the Sophomores will soon be sporting gay new sweaters was indicated by the decision reached yesterday afternoon in a class meeting held by this class in the East study room. Mr. Faries, of the Men's Shop, was present with several samples and from these a choice was made. It has been whispered that the sweaters will be a very bright red with green trimmings in a novel design.

Miss Terry, instructor in oral English, was hostess at a tea in Room 33, yesterday, at 3:00 o'clock, given to the English teachers of the High school. Miss Terry delivered an address on the subject of unifying the oral English in the different English classes. Under Miss Terry's superintendence oral English has become an important department of the school work.

The T. O. C. is becoming more and more popular all the time, and a number of fellows are being initiated each day. This organization is a duplication of a regular fraternity, with the exception that all the "secrets" are open, and meetings and initiations are held on the front lawn where anyone who wants to may look on. Several of the girls have expressed their desire to join, according to officials of the club, but the T. O. C. is strictly a boys' affair.

Class rings was the subject of discussion at a Senior class meeting held Thursday in Room 9. A representative of a Los Angeles jewelry firm was present with sample rings and pins. The girls fell for the attractive enamel rings but the boys declared for the more permanent all-gold designs. A lively argument followed in which, for once, the boys won out. Yells by "Squeak" Fischel and "Pygmy" Balthis featured the meeting.

Miss Knepper's Junior English classes, which are taking up newspaper journalism this year, visited the Glendale Evening News printing office Thursday, and learned a great deal about the inside workings of an up-to-date printing establishment.

The entire process of printing a newspaper was reviewed, and many wonderful things unfolded to these youthful seekers for knowledge. Much interest centered around the linotype machine, of which there are two in the News office. The job printing department was also explained, and many questions asked by the students, who now feel that they know all about a newspaper.

TREND OF EDUCATION

The Columbus Avenue P.-T. A. met at the school house Thursday afternoon, September 28. Prof. R. D. White, supervising principal of the Glendale city schools, gave a very interesting talk on "The Trend of Education." There was a large, enthusiastic and appreciative audience.

STUDY OF THE LAW

sidered the last word on the subject in communities; he was appealed to by all classes of people and frequently rendered services without charge. One of the effects that the general study of law will have, no doubt, will be to take away somewhat from the prestige usually considered due attorneys, but will probably have the further effect of creating more litigation where persons who have studied law but have not followed it as a profession, endeavor to do all of their own legal work. In other words, litigation, no doubt, will increase by reason of numerous people attempting to prepare their own contracts, wills, conveyances, etc.

There is a legal presumption that ignorance of the law excuses no one. In other words, that people are presumed to know the law. This striving on the part of many to become familiar with law by studying it, may in time, have the effect of acquainting a great many people with what the law is supposed to be.

An accurate knowledge of just what constitutes the law on any one subject, may be a difficult matter to determine. When we find that the Supreme Court of the United States is divided in its opinion on any one question, we can readily understand how easy it is for anyone with a knowledge of law, whether he be practicing his profession or not, to be mistaken in these matters.

The increase in the number of students who are now studying law, many of whom will become our leading professional and business men of the future, no doubt, will have a wholesome effect upon business conditions of the country. If they are not fully advised themselves they will see the necessity of employing men who can advise them correctly before going into a matter, thereby avoiding litigation in the future. And we find today that the best work that the counsellor does is to advise his clients so as to avert litigation. Business men realize this and many have regular counsel employed who draft all of their contracts and pass on all questions wherein litigation might result.

In conclusion will say that the increased enrollment of law students may not mean an increased number of attorneys who follow the profession, but will mean an increase of merchants, bankers and business men of various kinds who, by reason of their knowledge of the law, will become better in their own calling.

FRANK L. MUHLEMAN.

BIRTHDAY RECORD SHOWER

One of the most pleasant affairs of the season was the Birthday Record Shower given Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Elva B. Stubbs, 323 Orange street. The front room was decorated in pink and white and asparagus fern; the dining room in pink and green; with a place of honor on the table was a huge birthday cake, brilliant with candles in pink and white.

The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Betz and daughter of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Betz and children of Glendale, Mrs. M. J. Betz, Mrs. J. M. Boullion, Miss Besie Boullion, Mr. A. Erkinson, Clare Preston, Alice Gardner, Mr. Farris Brown and Mr. Bert Acton of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brunbacker of South Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Brown of Eagle Rock; Roy Pitts and Miss Irene Smart of Los Angeles, Miss Margaret Burr of Romona Acres, Raymond and Paul Evans, Floyd and Wilbur Shively and Miss Iva Shively, Miss Daisy Evans, Roger Bentley, Ernie Sohn, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Anderson, David Young, Mrs. W. H. Wertenbaker of Los Angeles. The evening was happily passed with games and the playing of new records presented by the guests. Refreshments of sherbet and cake were served and the guests left at a late hour wishing their hostess many birthdays of good cheer and health.

STARTS DANCING SCHOOL

Among the late arrivals in Glendale are Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus M. Smith, who have taken up their residence at 1456 Sycamore street. Mr. and Mrs. Smith came to Glendale from Philadelphia where Mr. Smith conducted a large dancing school for 29 years, having been located in one hall for that period of time. Not only is Mr. Smith a dancer of note but he holds a diploma as a graduate of the American National Assn. of Masters of Dancing. Thinking it would be a pleasant form of recreation to conduct a small school, Mr. Smith has leased the Masonic Temple hall Saturday evenings and will conduct a school in Glendale each Saturday. Classes for children at 2:15 p. m. and for adults from 7:30 to 11 p. m. The opening will be Saturday, Sept. 30. Modern and standard dances will be taught and an orchestra of selected musicians will furnish the music.

TO STUDY SHAKESPEARE

The Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet Monday, Oct. 2, at the home of Mrs. Menzo Williams, 1325 N. Central. Mrs. Mazie Fullman Garrett, whose services as instructress last year were so much appreciated, will fill the same position this year. The play to be studied will be "Cymbeline." All members of the Tuesday Afternoon club are cordially invited to be present.

We are grieved at the lack of principle on the part of some of the High school students who ride on the street car to Glendale, destroying others' property and doing things unbecoming to students of that age.
